

Show 'em What You're Working With!

The Southern Women's Show, a well-established and popular annual event in Richmond, is hosting the theme, "Handsome Heroes Fashion Show" as a part of their event this year, March 16 and 17, at the Richmond International Raceway complex in Richmond, Virginia.

Show organizers have asked the Virginia State Firefighters Association (VSFA) to send fire service men and women to the show to model their station duty uniforms, dress uniforms, and personal protective equipment for the audience. Let's show 'em what we're working with!

We're looking for up to 20 firefighters and EMS providers to dress for VSFA success and show their stuff. No modelling experience is required, and there will be some free show passes for family members who want to join you!

The Southern Women's Show will be sending a donation to the VSFA for participating in this year's show, and all proceeds earned will go to the VSFA Scholarship Fund. We need members who can make an appearance on one day or both days.

To volunteer, or to learn more, contact Ken Brown/VSFA, at (804) 971-7983!

For more information about the Southern Women's Show, visit their website at <https://southernshows.com/wri>